Compliance in the era of digital transformation

For the majority of organizations, growing compliance obligations are now consuming 40% or more of IT security budgets and threaten to become an unsustainable cost.

The incredible resource load just to maintain status quo for larger organizations can exceed 10,000 hours for each compliance obligation they carry.

Compliance is already a significant barrier to business opportunities. 58% of companies now view compliance as a material barrier to entering new markets.

With the current status quo, there is no light at the end of the tunnel.

Organizations that deploy innovative approaches get the best results.

Positive impacts are possible. After evolving and adjusting to the innovative approaches, some organizations report 40-50% savings in internal compliance resource requirements.

Organizations who proactively market their upgraded compliance and security postures are seeing as much as 33% improvement in pipeline conversions.

DID YOU KNOW?

- Compliance is already a significant barrier to business opportunities. 58% of companies now view compliance as a material barrier to entering new markets.
- With the current status quo, there is no light at the end of the tunnel.
- Organizations that deploy innovative approaches get the best results.
- Positive impacts are possible. After evolving and adjusting to the innovative approaches, some organizations report 40-50% savings in internal compliance resource requirements.

Automation

Aggressively shift security and compliance strategies and invest heavily in security automation to counteract and simplify compliance.

Compliance as a security enabler

Implement continuous monitoring tools, processes, and dashboards to improve security outcomes and push compliance requirements toward business security goals.

Coordinated assessment

Coordinate compliance efforts with auditors and focus on alternative, lowest-impact-feasible assessment timelines.

Market differentiation

Turn security from a cost to a point of market differentiation wherever possible.

Business alignment

Coordinate compliance efforts with auditors and focus on alternative, lowest-impact-feasible assessment timelines.

Let us show you how transforming compliance into an efficient and empowering program with assessment coordination, automation, and ongoing visibility can succeed.

Download the report.